THE DEAD BODIES ROTTING.

Care for the Living Leaves No. Time for the Dead.

BURIED IN HUGE TRENCHES TODAY.

Terrible Experiences of a Relief Party That Searched for the Dead-Bodies Found Lying in the Deserted Streets and in the Ashes of Ruined Homes. The Death List So Far as Known Will Probably Reach Three Hundred and Sixty-four.

ST PACE, Sept 4-A Pine City special to The Pioneer Press says: Words cannot tell the story of death and destruction that is revealed to the traveler on the St. Paul and Duluth from Mission Creek, two miles above the little town of Miller, or Sandstone Junction. The awfulness of the desolation which strikes upon the eye of the observer as he reaches the camp which was once the town of Hinckley, is more strongly impressed on his vision as he journeys northward.

Yesterday the smoke lifted, revealing a land-cape bare and black, the few standing trees being charred to a height of forty feet, while the ground was of that reculiar tint of brown mixed with gunpowder, for the grass has been burned to the roots. Here and there, in the bleak and dreary stretch of country in what is now a great lone land, was seen the body of a deer, whose fleet feet had not been able to outrum the flam-s, or of a human being who had been absolutely powerless against the grim destroyer.

A Pioneer Press man accompanied Judge Nethaway, of Stillwater, and members of a rebef party which started on a hand car loaded with provisions to relieve the people of Sand-tone, who were re-ported in great distress. Two miles above Hinckley they found lying by the trunk of a tree the bidy of a min which was evidently that of a lumberman. The rehef party proceeded as far as Skunk Lake, where the Dulutu limited train was burned. Here they found Engineer Willjams in charge of a gang of men, rebuilding the burned bridges. From them it was learned that the living of Sandstone had been taken to Duluth on special trains, and their pressing necessities re-Level, so that the help from Pine City was not needed. The party, therefore, resolved it-elf into one of searchers for bodies.

The honse of John Robinson was near Skunk Lake, in the woods, and his famimy had sought refuge in the cellar. There was no escape from the fire, and the party Lord the hadies of John Robinson and his wife. Mary Robinson, their eldest glour ater, and two smaller children. All the Jothing was burned from the bodies, burthe vierros and evidency been surfixite i before the fames reached them. Trends of the ordest anighter were uprased in an art tade of prayer.

With n (C) yards of the shot where Enginer Root stopped his train was a long tremen, running from the little body of water which proved a place of safety for the passengers on the limited to a swamp on the lake. Pollowing along this trench the party came upon the partially clothed budy of Otto Rowley, general passenger and freight agent of the Duluth and Winninez railroad. It is supposed that he was a passenger on the limited and in taking to the ditch, expected to reach the lane Other bonies found by the party were these of a man and a woman who had evidently fled from a farm house nearby and the bodies of two men who are supposed to have been passengers on the burned train.

The latest reports of the number of dead do not materially after the former estimates. In fact, that estimate is proving remarkable exact, considering the confusion of the first day. One element that makes close figuring very difficult is the fact that bodies seen in the woods and along the track are not infrequently reported to two points, and sent out from each as among its dead. Then, too, the tendency of the occasion, bad as it is, is to exaggeration. However, eliminating these doubtful reports as far as possible from its approximation, The Pioneer Press is convinced that the total is as near correct as possible. The figures are as follows: Hinckley, 200; Sandstone, 62, Miller, 12, between Skunk Like and Miller, 12; Pokegama, 2s. In lumber camps and scattering, estimated, 50, total, 354.

Yardmaster Dave Williams, of Duluth, is something of a hero himself. He is the man who grasped the situation, acted on his knowledge promptly, and relieved the people of Sandstone. He received a mes sage from Miller last night which said. "There are 130 people at Sandstone without food or shelter. For God's sake get them out of there." Within an incredibly short time an engine in charge of Yardmaster Williams was on the way to Sandstone. The entire road after the burned district was reached was patrolled, and the engine kept up an increant whistling, so that any persons who were nearby would come at once to the track. When the train arrived at Sandstone Junction, or Miller, as it is generally called, it was met by nearly the entire population of Sandstone and Miller. The depot platform at Miller had been burned, and there was not a house left standing answhere he view. About 170 people were taken aboard and a messengir sent to Sands' me, who informed the people of the arrival of relief. Very few stone to bury his father and mother. The scene at Sandstone, as described by Mr. Webster, was heartrending. The streets of the town were only lines of sand be-tween heaps of ashes. Within these lines lay forty bodies scattered at random, and twenty-two more were found dead on the outskirts of the town and in the hollows and marshes toward the river bank. The bodies wery lying exposed to the sun and rain and were rapidly decomposing. They were identified as far as possible, and today the victims were buried in two huge trenches. Those hereafter discovered will be buried were found, as it will be impos-sble to handle them. One of the marvelous circumstances of the affair is the escape of so many cattle and horses. Many were absolutely unscathed, though no one can tell how they escaped the ordeal of fire. Others were pitifully burned, and steps are tardily being taken to put them out of their misery. This morning the carcasses of the dead animals were buried. SAD SIGHTS AT SANDSTONE. Bodies of the Victims Left Rotting in the Hot Sun

SANDSTONE, Minn., Sept. 4 -All that remains of what was once the prosperous village of Sandstone is a small shack used by the Sandstone company for an office, and this would have met the fate of the other buildings but for the fact that it was located near the quarry and was missed by the flames - Crowded into this building were 200 people who had lost their homes and everything they possessed except the clothing which they wore. A relief committee from Duluth arrived yesterday with provisions to look after the destitute people.

After passing the Eastern Minnesota tracks and just before coming to the glowing coals and ashes that marked the city of Sandstone several bodies were seen, the victims apparently having been overtaken by the flames as they were fleeing to safety. The party had to cross from Miller's Station, on the St. Paul and Duluth, to Sandstone, sax miles distant. Sixty bodies were found in the little town, scattered about everywhere. No attempt had been made to bury them, and they were rotting in the hor sun.

On reaching the quarry below the town, where the people who were saved were waiting for them, they were given provisions, and those who were uninjured were sent forward to the relief train, about four or five miles away. Those who were and yesterday Mr. Webster went to Sand- | burned and o number of children were left in the office building until another relief train arrived, when they, too, were taken to Duluth.

All those saved at Sandstone were in the river while the cyclone of flames passed, and only managed to escape by wading in the water as far as possible and then throwing water over each other's heads. The coming of the flames sounded like thunder, and with such rapidity did they come that people who lingered to save property or neglected to seek safety in the river perished in the flames. As far as could be learned between forty and fifty bodies were scattered about the streets burned to a crisp. The relief committee had paid but little attention to bodies, as the living required immediate attention.

Eight Thousand Already Out in New York and Brooklyn, and It Is Likely That This Will be Increased by Twenty Thousand This Week.

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.-A general meeting of the United Brotherhood of Tailors and Garment Workers of America was held yesterday at New Irving ball, on Broome street, fully 5.000 being present. Addresses were made by C. F. Reichers, secretary of the United Garment Workers of America; Meyer Schoenfeld, Henry White, Herman Robertson and Abram Harrison. All of the speakers inveigned bitterly against the present wage system.

"It is not a question of money alone," said Mr. Harrison. "We are being worried and ground to death. We are already working for nothing, and if we don't assert ourselves we will starve." The following resolutions were then

"We ask for the abolition of the task system for ten hours' work aday and that the shops be put in proper condition.

"We demand that the public and press give us their sympathy, because we want to work like men and not like slaves, and we believe that our demands are just." Probably 8,000 garment makers have already quit work in New York and Brooklyn. Before the week is out it is estimated that there will be from 25,000 to 30,000 people out of work, either as strikers or because of the strike. The movement is not confined to New York and Brooklyn. In Philadelphia, Boston and other large cities the people have either quit work or have decided to quit in the event of a failure to get better wages. TO PUNISH LYNCHERS.

Men Who Murdered Alleged Incendiaries Will Suffer for Their Crime.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 4.—The five men arrested on suspicion of being concerned in last Friday night's lynching of six alleged incendiaries are still in jail. They are W. S. Richardson, the officer who had the negro prisoners in charge; E. T. Atkinson, the driver of the wagon, J. A. Walker, W. S. Thompson and J. D. Laxton. The last three are farmers living near Kerrville, where the negroes lynched are alleged to have done the greater part of the barn burning.

Judge Roper, of the criminal court, at first fixed the bail at $10,000 each, but yesterday reduced it to $5,000 upon their showing that they were poor men and unable to furnish the larger amount. They have not yet given bail. The grand jury is in session, and has summoned a large number of witnesses in connection with the lynching.

Public feeling against the lynchers runs higher. It has been learned that the program of the lynching was known to Will Cox, and detected by him before the lynching occurred. It was his understanding that Detective Richardson was in with the crowd. Charles Cox visited Cuba, near the scene of the lynching, last week, and he, too, heard of what was on the tapis. Both men made these statements last week, but today they deny making

AMERICAN PRISONERS RELEASED.

Rather Than Stand Trial, However, They Consent to Leave the Country-Twelve Englishmen Arrested, Including an Attache of the British Legation.

NEW ORLEANS. Sept. 4.—The Associated Press correspondent at Bluefields writes under Aug. 29 that nothing exciting has occurred since his last letter. The foreigners remain perfectly quiet, but there is very bitter feeling against the Spaniards. They look upon the kidnaping of the two Americans and the several English subjects as an outrage.

The five natives and Jamaicans arrested the previous week were confined in the basement of the palace, and one of the number was suffering from fever and without proper food. The poor fellow lay on the cold stone floor until Captain O'Neill, of the United States cruiser Marblehead, secured some comforts for him. Another of the prisoners, it is said, was given but three soda crackers to eat in a day, while another was kept tied with

Additional complaints were made to Captain O'Neill, who requested that Mr. Hall, who served as police judge under the provisional government, be admitted to Madriz finally agreed to release Hall if some responsible citizen would agree to stand security, and should the man fail to appear for trial, then the bondsman must accept the prisoner's position and serve the imprisonment or pay the fine. On the 20th the prisoners were brought before the secretary of state and General Cabezas and told to either leave the country or stand the much dreaded trial. They decided to go.

A definite confirmation of the seizure by the Nicaraguan government of the Bluefields Banana company steamer Mascot for alleged complicity in the recent Mosquito insurrection was brought by the steamer John Wilson yesterday. The Mascot is an American steamer and has always carried the American flag. Its owners averthat it was pressed into service when the Mosquito chieftain Clarence took possession of the Mosquito coast, and without their consent. Indians who served under Clarence are being arrested indiscriminately. It is alleged that if a native bears a grudge against a foreigner he simply has to tell Cabezas that the object of his hatred is a bad man and assisted the Indiaus in the recent expulsion of the Nicaraguan soldiers, and the foreigner is immediately

Just before the John Wilson sailed six Americans and Englishmen were exiled by order of Cabezas. They were sent away from Bluefields in a small freight schooner engaged in local coast traffic.

Circassians Killed in a Riot.

ST. PETERSBIRG, Sept. 4-News has been received of a riot which occurred at Svaatykh, in the government of Chakow, during the progress of a fair. It arose out of the objection of boothholders to the collection of duties by Circassians. A mob was formed by the boothholders and an assault made upon the Circassians, in which three of the latter were beaten to death. The mob then besieged the tax office, in which five other Circus-ians were employed. The latter defended themselves with knives, and killed one of their assailants. This only increased the fury of the mob, which did not desist from the attack until two other Circassians were killed. Leaders of the mobwere arrested.

RACE WITH FLAME

The Terrible Catastrophe That Befell Wisconsin Towns.

WHOLE FAMILIES PERIMED

Overtaken by the Fires Before Which They Fled.

HUNDREDS OF LIVES SACRIFICED

It Is Already Known That Three Hun-Burned to Beath, and the List Is Yet Incomplete.-Wild Ride Through Flames of a Train Crowded with Passengers An Heroic Engineer and Train Crew.

ST. PAUL, Sept 3 -The town of Hinckley, Minn, about half way between this city and Duluth, has been wiped out by forest fires, and the list of dead may reach a thousand. It will certainly exceed 500, and the reports now being received would indicate that a larger figure may not be too great. On the train yesterday from there were one or two people who came through the fires, and told graphic stories of the scene. The train from Duluth reached a point a mile and a half north of Hinckley some time after midnight, and was forced to return to a point five miles away on account of the threatening flames. Half a dozen of the passengers, however, secured a hand car and rode through the flames to Hinckley, taking the north bound train this side of there and returning on it to this city.

On their return on the hand car they encountered twenty-seven dead bodies along the line of the railway. They say that the people of Hinckley ran to the woods when their houses caught fire, and as the timber afterwards burned it is more than probable that great numbers perished. The whole country around Hinckley is on fire, and the full extent of the disaster cannot be learned for a day or

The party that came through the fires in the hand car suffered severely fromburns. Their injuries, however, will not prove fatal. They tell many sad stories of what they saw. One woman had evidently tried to save her five children and was overtaken by the fiery flames, and the whole family perished close to the railroad Another case was where a mother, truck. seeing her house in flames, ran in to save her child. Her husband also followed her, and the walls of the house caved in before they could get out.

The passenger train from Duluth on which these men were is in ashes, and the rest of the passengers have taken refuge in a marsh near Skunk Lake, where they took refuge in a swamp. The engineer was badly burned by the flames, but stuck to his post and got all the passengers out of the fire safely. This engineer, James Root, is one of the best known and pluckiest of those in the employ of the St. Paul and Duluth. He tried to take his train through the fires to Hinckley. but when the cars caught fire from the flying embers he reversed his engine and backed at full speed to Skuuk Lake. It was so dark during the day that it was almost impossible for any one to see one hundred feet away, and during the night the headlight of the engine was useless. Engineer Root's injuries are quite serious, but it is hoped that he will recover, although one report gives no hope.

The experience of the passengers on this train was most appalling. The rear car caught fire and as the flames overtook it, and the passengers rushed headlong into the forward cars, Conductor Sullivan with his plucky associates walked up and down the aisle, doing their best to soothe the frightened passengers. The shricks of the women and children, as well as the terrifled shouts of the men increased the terrible feelings aroused by the uproar of the flames on every hand. The windows broke from the heat and several of the men passengers, too terrified for further self control, with a terrible cry leaped headlong through one of the open windows and were swallowed up in the flames outside. Others quickly followed, and altogether in the next ten minutes a dozen men leaped to death in the flames in a like mauner.

From the stories of passengers on the limited train which was burned near Hinckley the entire train crew deserve to be placed on the roll of honor for personal beroism. Engineer James Root, of White Bear, heads the list and will have a thrilling story to tell if he recovers from his injuries. He was badly burned and almost blinded, and fell from his seat unconscious immediately on getting through the fires. Fireman John McGowan was a good companion for him in the cab, and the other members of the crew-Conductor Jerry Sullivan, Brakeman Monohan, Baggageman George Morris and Porter Balir -were fit associates for the hero who ledithem into what was literally a fiery

Yesterday a relief train from the north brought the passengers of Engineer Root's train through Hinckley and on to this city. The relief train carried a supply of hand cars, which were used in picking up the bodies of the dead along the track. One hundred bodies were picked up and brought into Hinckley before the relief train came to this city with the injured passengers and trainmen.

Horses were harnessed to buggies and wagons. Women and children were hurriedly loaded. In some cases attempts were made to carry off some household goods, but in most instances the people had no thought for aught but for their lives Probably 200 of them left town on foot or in bicycles, plunging into the woods to the north across the Grindstone river, which skirts the town on the north. They were literally fleeing before the pursuing demon of fire. Over the hill that rises behind the Grindstone is a camp, and to this the people with teams headed, but it proved no protection. The hre gave them no opportuity to go fur

Some abandoned their teams and ran into the lower partions of the morass, but the fire sought them out. Not one was left to tell the tale, and yesterday in a space of little more than four or five acres were counted over 130 corpses. There were many families offfive, six and seven. and there they lay, the men generally a liftle in advance, the mother surrounded by ner little ones, cut off by the most horrible of deaths. Nearly all the bodies were nude, the fire baying burned every

WILSON TALKS.

Y Name is Wilson; I do an insurance business on LaSalle street, in Chicago Ill., and I live in Evanston, Ill. Evanston is what was originally a scattering population on a pretty point on Lake Michigan, exteemed years ago far from the city of Chicago, but now one of the varied towns which may go within it by vote of the population.

I am married and have a wife and one child. That child is a boy (I suppose I should feel the same solicitude if it was a girl), and I have a father's natural faucies as to what must be the best thing to give that child the right kind of intelligence, and so divert his course that he may succeed in life. I have studied a great deal maps the subject. We are experience would not be of great value, because I have upon the subject. My own experience would not be of great value, because I have succeeded only to the limit of the average man and am barely established; still, I own the house and lot upon which I live, and am feeling perfectly safe in meeting the exigencies of the year. I want the boy to take a broader view than I did, to be a bigger man in the world. I have studied how to teach him to do that, and he has a bigger man in the world. I have studied how to teach him to do that, and he has done pretty well, as far as the preliminaries go. Now, I have thought over what I should say to him and have sometimes been puzzled. I could not very well tell him what to do. I wanted to tell him what I needed but what I did not learn myself when I was of his age, and what my father did not know how to tell me, or else age, not thoughtful enough to do so. I wanted to tell him how to follow the example was not thoughtful enough to do so. I wanted to tell him how to follow the example of those who have succeeded at the present time and under the circumstances which or those who have succeeded at the present time and under the circumstances which ordinarily affect a young man struggling in this Republic established on this comparatively new world to-day. I wanted to tell him just what he had better do to get along well, and to point out to him what had been done by the people who were successful at the present time.

Of course, the record of the people of any time past would not be of so much value, because circumstances must necessarily have been different when they were alive. I feel confident, though, that if I could learn, some way and somehow, what the people who are so uccessful to day have done and how they did it, I could give the people who are so uccessful to day have done and how they did it, I could give to my boy such advice as would make his own life at least as far removed from fail-to my boy such advice as work many possess, ure as justified by the natural ability he may possess, I looked around for some authority which I might consult in order to give him I looked around for some authority which I might consult in order to give him the facts most essential with this idea of mine in mind, but I could find none until the facts most essential with this idea of mine in mind, but I could find none until I discovered that a great publishing firm in Chicago had decided to bring out a book I discovered that a great publishing firm in Chicago had decided to bring out a book. giving the photographs of all the people who are prominent in America to day. Here was what I wanted. The book, as I have learned, is going to be published in 16 parts, 16 pages to each, with a recent photograph on each page of some active leading American man or woman of to-day, while underneath appears the story of that same person's life—the story telling what that person did, and how the ends attained were eventually accomplished. Here was what I wanted; here was what I needed in various ways; here was was I was certainly seeking in order to obtain the information with which to educate my boy ank secure for him that knowledge which will give him a source of thought and make him prominent in the world. I have the first cheets of this work. It is a graphic story of America's Greatest Men and Women, told in each instance on a single page underneath a photograph of recent date, which conveys to the eye an idea of what that person is. To me the photograph tells even more than the suggestive record beneath; and yet it is odd how in each instance the correct story corresponds with the expression upon the face which is reproduced in the portrait above. I do not know how the series will end. I know very little about this new feature of the newspaper people; I know nothing about the publishers and their expectations, but I do know this: that if the series so begun should be continued to its practical, ordinary good sense end-and I don't care whether that will include 200 or 700 of America's Greatest Men and I don't care whether that will include 200 or 700 of America's Greatest Men and Women, which is the title of the book—I do know this, that for the ordinary, active and alert business man—I will certainly say far more for the student or the literary man, or the politician or the statesman—for all these I will say it will be simply the most valuable and the most remarkable book produced in modern history. The wonder is that some one has not thought of it before. Yet no one seems to have done so since the days of Plutarch. Plutarch knew something. That shrewd old fellow knew that all who would get out of the drift, all who would accomplish great things, wanted to know every detail of the lives of those who had better luck great things, wanted to know every detail of the lives of those who had better luck or more courage or a broader brain than their fellows; but I am no authority on these points. I only know that there is produced a second Plutarch's Lives, that its biographies are shrewd, graphic and curt, and written without bias and without prejudice. I only know that there was a Plutarch—God bless the old fellow—and that there is this modern work.

This is the work I am going to give to my boy. I am going to make him read it thoroughly. The work is announced as consisting of 16 Parts, with 16 pages and 16 photographs in each part, and when bound, the whole series will make a great volume of the page of the part, and when bound, the whole series will make a great volume. ume of 256 pages, the like of which has never been equaled. It is the story of the personal character of the men and women who are making the nation's history at this particular time. What a work this is! Do you imagine that I would miss it for my boy, or, incidentally, for myself?

vestige of their clothing and blackened and charred many of the corpses beyond recognition.

Those who fied to the north on foot followed the Duluth track, and so rapid was the progress of the flames that many of them were actually burned as they fled, falling on the way for a distance of three miles or more. Nearly thirty bodies were recovered along here. The people who remained in Hinckley fared the best of all. The eastern Minne-sota tracks marked the eastern edge of the city proper Just beyond the road laid a tract of land, probably embracing at least ten acres. It was purchased for a gravel pit to furnish material for the fill up approach to the company's bridge across the Grindstone and at other points on its line. The whole area indicated has been excavated to a depth in the center of thirty or forty feet. There is a singuant pool of rain water in the center three feet in its greatest depth, and here a hundred or more citizens took refuge, in addition to a number of domestic animals.

The situation at Sandstone is even more appailing than at Hinckley, except in point of numbers. Of the 100 people in the town one-fourth are dead. The little town of Mi-sing Creek, some little distance north of Hinckley, is also in ashes. as are the towns of Pokagama, Sandstone Junction and Skunk Lake These six towns are totally wiped out.

The walls of the school house, the iron fence about the town hall property, the bank vault and one absolutely uninjured outhouse is all that is left to mark the site of Hinckley, where on Saturday stood a score of store buildings and a dozen times as many dwelling houses.

The story of the catastrophe which wiped out the material possessions that had made Hinckley a husy, prosperous little city is a short one. The town was built of wood.

The school house, erected last year at a cost of $10,000, and one-half the Duluth round house were the only brick structures in the city. By one of these peculiar freaks for which there is no accounting the Eastern Minnesota round house and water tank on the southwestern edge of the town, almost in the woods, escaped the flames-a circumstance the more remarkable from the fact that it stood directly in the path of the flames, which seem to have jumped it as cleanly as if playing leapfrog.

All Saturday forenoon the town's people were apprehensive. The smoke rolling up from the south told a story unmistakably plain to those accustomed to a wooded country The fire kept advancing, fanned by the wind, which was blow-ing a gale. On the west side of the Duluth tracks were a few small houses be longing to the railway employes. The firemen's attention was mainly directed to keeping the fire away from them, as the main business part of the city was built in schally just across the track

About 3 o'clock in the afternoon the fire literally jumped into the town. It is described by those who witnessed its onward progressat Hinckley and elsewhere as if it were forced along by cyclones of its own generation. The fire first struck Hinckley on the east side of the Duluth track, and brave fighters for the first time gave up the unequal battle, and, already too late in many in-lances, turned | their attention to their personal safety.

The Eastern Minnesota train from the south had just come in, and the people of the panic stricken city fled to it for A number of box cars were coupled on and filled and covered with men, women and children. Some were bareheaded, some were coatless, while some few clutched a pitiful bundle of the more precious of their portable possessions. Families were separated. Children joined the throng and left parents. In all there was a motiey crowd of about 450 or more people. The train pulled out just ahead of the fire and succeeded in ultimately reaching Duluth.

This circumstance, while fortunate in a degree that cannot be estimated, had nade the confusion greater, for it is not known who escaped in this way, and many people are reported dead who may be in safety. Had not this number of people, largely women and children, left the doomed city when they did the loss of life would have increased in a geometrical ratio, for their presence would have added immeasurably to the subsequent

About the same hour the accommodation train on the Hinckley and St. Cloud branch left for the latter place with about twenty-five passengers. Its path he directly across the path of the fire, and their situation speedily became desperate. The ties were burning, the rails were warming and the trestles were sagging under the train. The smoke had increased so that the engineer was helpless He could not see the train behind him. Burning trees lay on the track and were tossed uside by the engine. Suddenly the track gave way and the train toppled off to one side. No one was injured, and they pressed on to Pokagama Station, a few rods ahead. But a few feet in front of the engine was discovered a gorge sixty feet wide and forty feet deep, where the trestle had been burned away. They succeeded in reaching the clearing about the station and escaped with a few burns and

The people who were left in the city were in what seemed to be an almost hopeless condition | Egress by the only means of transportation that could hope to distance the swiftly advancing flames was out of the question. The men had been fighting fire for hours, and the women and children were in a panic stricken condition. Many of them were of the more ignorant population, for a very large percentage of the people who got out on the Great Northern railroad were of the more intelligent class.

The clean cut by the fires has been so complete that many people have no ambition left to rebuild new homes on top of their ruins. Most of them will scatter to all parts of the country to find their friends as soon as they can. As for loss of property, it is impossible to make even an approximation, but it certainly runs into the millions, two or three millions of dollars' worth of prop erty between Hinckley and Duluth hav ing been reduced to ashes and cinders.

MAGIC WORK OF SCIENCE.

A Newspaper Man Sees a Stange and Interesting Experience-Meat Completely Digested in an Open Dish

-Views of Col. J. R. Fellows and other New Yorkers, New York Exchange.

It is not orten that science makes a discovery that demands special investigation on the part of the newspapers. Once in a while it does, however, such as occurred in New York recently.

It has been stated positively that a process has been found whereby food, mixed with a certain ferment, became digested before it had even entered the mouth. Certainly if this were true it would mark an era in the history of civilization, and the writer was delegated to thoroughly investigate and report upon the same.

The first call was made at the office of the company which is now manufacturing the food in question. and I was permitted to inspect the process of manufacture. I found it exceedingly elaborate and scientific, and after inspecting it thoroughly I was shown the way in which it actually worked.

A piece of fresh meat was placed in an open dish and some of the pre-digested food mixed with it, when the temperature was raised to that of the stomach. Almost immediately there was a change in the color of the meat, next its fibres seemed to separate, and soon it assumed a liquid form, the same as it does in the human stomach after being eaten. The effect, the change, the entire procass, was most wonderful and speedy.

"This, as you see, is a demonstration of what can be done," said the manager, "but we prefer that you ascertain just what this food accomplishes with the people who use it. Here is a list of names, and you are at liberty to see them and ascertain just what their opinions m y be."

Armed with this list the writer began a tour of investigation, with the following result:

Sergeant Elias B. Dunn, chief of the Weather Bureau, was found in his office, looking exceedingly well. In response to my inquiry he said: "I have used the pre-digested food Paskola myself and in my family, and I must say that I have found it just what is claimed for it. In fact, I have been chanting the praises of it very steadily ever since I first began to use it. Why shouldn't I? It has built me up and made a new man of me. You see how fresh and rosy I am, and I intend to keep so."

Col. John R. Fellows, the eloquent District Attorney of New York, in response to my question, said: "If I am called upon to deliver an address or make a speech upon which much depends, I first look out for my stomach. When that is healthy my brain is clear, my thoughts are logical, and it is a comparatively easy matter to clothe them in proper lanfood, which sets the stomach right, clears the cobwebs from the brain and sets the machinery of thought and eloquence in motion. There is nothing like Paskola for such a purpose and I believe it has won more cases before a jury than you would iciagine." Both Messrs. Howe and Hummel, the well-known lawyers, fully confirmed what I had already heard. Mr. Howe said:

"Look at me! Feel how firm my arm is! You can see I am in perfect health, and yet I was, net long ago, advised by my doctor to go away for my health. My present condition is the result of Paskola. It is a laborsaving discovery-saves your stomach the trouble of digesting food. Try it as I did, and grow fat and jolly."

His partner, Mr. Hummel, said: "I have seen a number of people try Paskola whose stomachs were so weak that they could digest nothing else, but who were able to assimilate this pre-digested food without the were 63 new cases of choiers and 313 slightest difficulty. I have known deathan ad It man wasted to a shadow by indigestion, who gained 40 pounds by its use."

Wherever I went the reports were the same, and I was forced to the inevitable conclusion that a great discovery had certainly been made for building up the system, increasing the strength and prolonging the life, without any drain or strain upon the digestive organs, which has been the great bane of our American life. Certainly the results of the research

UP THE MIDLAND.

Squandered Their Substance—Wood Alcohol-The Drouth-Rockland's Spe. cial Town Meeting-Soldiers' Re-union

-When we consider the picnics, church festivals, clam bakes, circuses and such like that we have had up this way the past summer, it is no surprise that those who run to such places are poverty stricken. They seem to take no thought of the winter that is close at hand. I presume you have just such shiftless, thoughtless people in Middletown, who, some of them no doubt, will be glad to live on cold charity next winter.

-The acid works are all idle owing to the tax being taken off grain alcohol used in the arts. This of itself will make pretty tough times for those who usually make a living either working in these works or chopping the wood used in them, and will be far reaching in its consequences up this way, There was a time in the history of the wood acid industry when tariff tinkering was not feared by those engaged in the business. Pretty soon they discovered what for a time they were pleased to call naphtha, that would cut resinous substances, but for that purpose the name was against it, and it was soon changed to alcohol. People not acquainted with this article suppose it is fit to drink, and we often see an article going the rounds of the press charging that our wood acid industries are the cause of a great deal of drunkenness. Such statements are misleading, as this alcohol when taken in large quantities will kill before it will intoxicate.

-The oldest inhabitant is paralyzed, as the present drouth is far beyond any thing that he ever saw or even heard of. A farmer who for two weeks past has been fighting fires in the woods, informs me that he has found trees eighteen inches in diameter, that had stood on old decayed bogs that had there roots completely burned off and were prostrated to the ground. In some instances the fire had continued to burn until the trunks were consumed for a distance of fifteen feet. It is fearful to contemplate the damage that is being done to mowing lands, pastures, and growing crops. It will require many years to undo the damage that is now being done from this continued dry spell, occurring as it has so ea ly in the season. O, for a prophet like Elijah, that through his efforts we might once more have a little rain to cool the parched earth; but it seems as if the days of propnets, and bringing rain by prayer, is past and gone; and that the rain-cloud hears no more the voice of living man.

-The special town meeting at Livingston Manor, to get the voice of the people regarding the legality of the new steel bridge at the Manor, resulting in an endorsement of the acts of the town officers by nearly one hundred majority. This is a nice bridge, with good strong abutments under it, that ought to last until Livingston Manor is a city; but yet the fact remains, and is patent to any thinking person, that it cost a great deal more than it should have done. Hence the fight.

-The soldiers' reunion was after all a greater success than was expected of it. Gen. Butterfield was present, but he did not speak, owing to a throat trouble. Judge White from Syracuse was by all odds the best speaker of the day; he held the attention of all who heard him for an hour an a half. The next reunion wili held at Livingston Manor.

DEMOCRATIC STATE CONVENTION.

The Democratic electors of the State of New York are requested to unite in sending three afternate delegales from each Assembly District to a state Convention, to be held at Saratog's springs, on Tuesday, Sept. 25th, 1891, at 12 O'cleck boom for the purpose of placing in nomination candidates to be voted for at the ensuring general election, and to transact such other business as may properly come before the convention.

It is reported in Washington that President Cleveland, after his return from Gray Gables, will go to West Virgiria and make one or two speeches in Congressman Wilson's district.

Although the pay of members of the Constitutional Convention stops Sept. 15th, the programme of the Republican majority is to continue speechmaking and dawdling over the work of revision until after elec-

The Corbett-Jackson space in print is getting to be very tedious,—is too long drawn by half. If these fellows only knew how the dear public is regarding them, they would stop fighting word battles and would get to blows without further lingo and waste of time.

The Paterson Press says that the amount of money drawn from the First National Bank of that city, Saturday, for pay rolls, was larger than for any pay day during the past year. Business is improving under the effects of the new tariff and manufactories of all kinds are being rushed with orders at prices which afford a fair margin for profit.

The latest news concerning the Republican programme in this State is that Boss Platt has selected Congressman James A. Wadsworth, of Genesee, as his candidate for Lieutenant-Governor. It is part of the bargain that Mr. Wadsworth is to deliver the votes of the delegates from the counties in his district to Mr.

The compulsory vaccination order of the Newburgh Board of Education is condemned in set terms by Dr. Barclay, of that city, and he advises his patients to resist it before the courts. The doctor refuses to vaccinate children, even when asked to do so by their parents. To him vaccination is a horror of horrors, liable to entail most terrible consequences. But be this as it may. the doctor and his patients who take his advice to appeal from the mandate of the educational authorities will get no comfort at court. The Supreme Bench of this State has already sustained compulsory vaccination of public school children. The Court took the ground that education is not a right but a privilege, and that children must, therefore, conform to the requirements made for their welfare.

If Mr. Fassett expects to win the nomination he will have to take off his ccat. On a previous memorable occasion he took off his coat when there was no necessity for it. Now he will not only be obliged to do it, but must roll up his shirt-sleeves as well.—Newburgh News.

First Car on the Asylum Line-Run by Mrs, Wightman-Cars Running Regularly Through from Lake Avenue to Midway.

ELECTRIC RAILWAY MATTERS

The first car on the Asylum line was run on Sunday morning, shortly aiter 10 o'clock. It was car No. 3 and Mrs. E. G. Wightman, wife of the Secretary of the company, handled the controller and brake, and piloted the car over the new track as well as the best motorman could have done. It was not her first experience, however, for she ran a car to Midway Park, one evening recentiy.

On board car No. 3 on the trial trip, besides Mrs. Wightman, were Mrs. Brooks, a friend who is visiting her, Secretary E. G. Wightman, Superintendent LeBarr, Hon. M. D. Stivers and the Orr Brothers. Returning the car ran through to Midway and thereafter all park cars ran to Lake avenue.

There are now two distinct lines. the park line, which will eventually run through to the asylum, and the cross town line, as it is already dubbed by railroad men, which now extends from the North End to Genung street.

There were three cars off the track at Lake avenue, Sunday night. One car ran off the end of the rails and another was sent out to pull it on again. This car also got off the rails and dropped one of its motors. A third car was then sent out and one wheel jumped the rails, but was got on again and the car finally pulled the others upon the track.

The water supply gave out at the power bouse about 8 c'clock last night, and for half an hour cars were left starding at various points on the

The three vestibuled cars, No's. 10, 13 and 15 are running on the cross town line, and the others on the Midway route. The question of a route from Lake avenue to the State Hospital will be settled as soon as Capt. Rockwell returns to the city, which will be soon. It is expected that work on the Goshen line from Midway will be commenced early next week.

German Societies and Citizens Celebrate an American Hollday-An Intposing Parade and a Gay Time at Maennerchor Park on Labor Day-Athlede Exhibition and Shooting whom spoke in German and the re-

Contests. Labor Day was celebrated in this city, yesterday, in a manner somewhat different from usual. As far as possible labor was suspended and the spirit of the day was observed in that respect. But to our German citizens is due the credit of making it a gala day as well.

The several German societies pose, as was announced, of giving a People's Festival after the manner of | being crowded all the time. such celebrations in the Fatherland, and their plans were admirably carried out.

GERMAN AND AMERICAN COLORS TO GETHER.

The festival given yesterday was designed to be as much after the German custom as possible, but it was noticeable to all that our German Trier de did not forget their allegiance to their adopted country, and while the German flag floated from one standard, by its side was the Stars and Stripes, and in all the decorations the "Red, White and Blue" was profusely used instead of the "Red, White and Black," which, if the celebration had occurred in Germany, would have been the prevailing colors.

ARBIVAL OF THE TURN VEREIN.

At 10:30 o'clock in the morning the Committee of Arrangements, headed by the 24th Separate Company Band, and the marshal and his aides, marched to the O. and W. depot to meet the Newburgh Turn-Verein, who came on No. 1, and escorted them to Maennerchor Hall.

THE PARADE.

The parade formed in Franklin Square and about noon the line of march was taken up. It was an imposing procession, and passed in the following order:

Marshal and Aids ${ t Band}$

Committee of Arrangements
Turn Verein
Mænnerchor Germania
Luther Lodge, I. O. O. F.
Harmonia Council, A. L. H.
Sill- Woovers' Association. Silk Weavers' Association.

GAILY DECORATED WAGONS.

There were several wagons very bandsomely decorated with evergreens and bunting, one representing the Odd Fellows, another the Silk Weavers, another Harmonia Council, another the Mænnerchor, another carrying a large party of girls belonging to no organization; but by far the prettiest and most imposing, and at the same time most significant, was a float representing the fraternity of America and Ger-

GERMANIA AND COLUMBIA.

On a raised platform, Miss Clara Wengatz dressed as Columbia, and Miss Sophie Behme as Germania, stood side by side, the former carry ing a shield and the latter a sword At the foot of the platform on a seat extending all around it, were sixteen maids of honor, pretty girls dressed in white, with evergreen wreaths. They were Carrie Harris. Carrie Adelman, Eva Schwartz, Lena Gerhardt, Carrie Smith, Mabel Keener, Frida Emde, Lizzie Hermann, Anna Scharf. Anna Henning, Lora Henning, Hilda Henning, Ethel Schwartz Emma and Anna Heinig, Lizzie Grier. Misses Wengatz and Behme are both pretty girls and were handsomely dressed, and as Columbia and Germania were much admired. At the rear of the procession was a unique and pretty feature, a little cart gaily decorated, in which sat little Rosa Wengatz driving a goat that appeared to enjoy the honors bestowed upon him.

GORGEOUS MARSHALS.

The marshal of the day was Mr. Robert Wengatz, diessed in showy uniform and riding a spirited horse, upon which he sat with as much grace as a cavalry general. The aids we-e Daniel Schmidt, Fred Kersten and Cune and E. G. Wm. Musbach, who were also mounted and gaily uniformed.

On the front of the Germania Council's float was a large imitation of the badge of the Legion of Honor, with the motto, "Juncti Juvamus," which means "United We Assist,"

AT THE PARK.

At 3 o'clock the following members of the Newburgh Turn Verein gave exhibitions on the parallel and horizontal bars at Mænnerchor Park, under the leadership of Mr. John Levsen: Fred Michaels, Fred Karl, Geo. Woodley, John Gaillard, Henry and Louis Echardt.

THE SHOOTING CONTESTS.

There were two shooting contests, one for members of the societies and the other free for all. In the first, August Pfaff won the first prize, a large gold badge and Robert Wengatz won the second prize, a silver badge.

The prizes in the free for all contest were likewise gold and silver badges. The winner of the first was

Philip McCauley Passes Away, This Morning-Asked for a Smoke an Hour Before Beath, Philip McCauley died at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. John McIntee, on Railroad avenue, at 4:45 o'clock, this morning. On August 15th he passed his 104th birthday, and his prediction on that day that he would never see another birthday has been verified even sooner than his friends anticipated.

Mr. McCauley was conscious up to the last moment and knew and stated at 11 o'clock, last night, that his days were numbered and the end was near. At 3 o'clock, this morning, he asked for a "puff" from his unslacked lime in one of his eyes. pipe and Mr. John Walsh, who was Acute inflammation, followed by with him, filled and lighted it and sloughing, resulted in complete deplaced it between his lips; twice he ! was able to draw the smoke through the stem and expel it from his lips, but no more. He laid his aged head back upon the pillow and rested quietly, but all the while conscious i until the death messenger came at the hour named.

PHILIP M'CAULEY AT 100 YEARS.

The portrait of Mr. McCauley, on his 100th birthday.

Mr. McCauley came to America about forty-five years ago, and soon afterwards settled in Middletown, where he has resided nearly all the time since. His wife died soon after he came here and he has since made his home with his daughter, Mrs.

McIntee, on Myrtle avenue, Mr. McCauley is survived by three children; Mrs. McIntee, above named; Mrs. Terrence Costello, and Mr. Terrence McCauley, of Goshen, and by four grandchildren.

Mr. McCauley's life has been temperate and well ordered and he has suffered but two great bereavements, -the deaths of his wife and his grandson, Luke Costello, who had been a favorite and who was preparing for the priesthood when he died. To his habits and his few great sorrows is attributed his good health through a period of 104 years.

Mr. Charles Babcock, an employe of Mr. McBride, of Mt. The electrical force of the human body, as the nerve fluid may be termed, is an especially attractive depar ment of science, as it exerts so marked an influence on the health of the organs of the body. Nerve force is produced by the brain and conveyed by means of the nerves to the various organs of the body, thus supplying the latter with the vitality necessary to the pneumogastric nerve, as shown here, may be said to be the most important of the entire nerve system, as it supplies the heart lungs, stomach, bowels, etc., with the nerve force necessary to keep them active and healthy. As will be seen by the cutthe long nerve descending from the base of the brain and terminating in the bowels is the pneumogastric, while the numerous little branches supply the heart, lungs and stomach with necessary virtality. When the brain hecomes in any way disordered by irritability or exhaustion, the nerve force which it supplies is lessened, and the organs receiving the diminished supply are consequently weakened.

Physicians generally fail to recognize the importance of this fact, but treat the organitself instead of the cause of the trouble. The noted spring is a fail to recognize the importance of this subject, and the principal discoveries oncerning it are due to his efforts. Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine, the unrivaled brain and nerve food, is prepared on the principle that all nervous and many other difficulties originate from disorders of the nerve centers. Its wonderful success in cirring tiese disorders is testified to by thousands in every part of the lind.

Restorative Nervine cures sleeplessness, nervous prostration, diziness, hysteria, sexual debility, St. Vitus dance, epilepsy, etc. It is foed from opilates or dangerous drugs. It is sold on a positive guarantee by all drugsists, or sout direct by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, St per bottle, als bottles for St, express prepaid.

The Once Brilliant Orator find Shows Evidences of Mental Decay for Severa? Years-Remarkable Career of a Bobbin Boy Who Rose to Fame.

WALTHAM, Mass., Sept. 3.—General Nathaniel P Banks, famous as a soldier, statesman and parliamentarian, died at his home in this city on Saturday. General Banks, as is generally known, had been growing mentally feebler for several years, and for at least two years had required the watchful care of his family. institution three days. He was taken Thursday night to his home in this city, where he died. Mrs. Banks and Miss Maud Banks were with him when he passed away.

On the announcement of General Banks' death the flags on all the public buildings in Boston were displayed at half mest, and on every side are evidences of respect.

A REMARKABLE CAREER.

His Rise from Bobbin Boy to Palirixal and Military Eminance.

A remarkable career indee ilwas that of Nathaniel Prentiss Banks. A statesman at two widely separated eras and a soldier between them, he twice went into almost absolute retirement, and twice emerged therefrom to figury in exciting congressional debates, and finally, when most Americans had come to think of him as a historical character only, he astonished a generation which had not known him by appearing for a third time in con-

The Banks family occurred a middle class position in Waltham, Mazer, and there Nathaniel Prentiss was been Jan. 30, 1816. His father seems to have begun life as a laborer and to have thought he had done quite well in becoming superintendent in a cotton factory: At any rate he took it for granted that his somwas to rise in life in a similar way, and at an early age put him to world in the factory The son, as it often happens, took a different view of his future, devoted all his leisure hours to study, and assembling other youths of his own age as often as possible "practiced on then!" to acquire the habit of public speaking.

Fact and fiction are somewhat mixed in the popular details of this part of his life, for soon after his appearance in public life came the issue of a very interesting little work, entitled "The Bobbin Boy," which was for many years among the most popular boys' books to America.

The real Nat, like the one in the book, was a very progressive and aggressive boy boldly called in question all the received opinions of his time and town, equally in polities, theology and social science. Ho embraced every opportunity to speak before a school, a club or even a publicmeeting of citizens.

Quite early in life he took rank as a lecturer before local lyceums, a little later became editor of the paper its Waltham. then studied law, was admitted to the bar, and in 1849 was elected to represent his native town in the legislature.

General Fanks began political life as a Democrat and a Free Soiler, and as such served his four terms in the legislature, being specker of the assembly in 1551 and The next year la presided over the constitutional convention and immediately after took his seat in the Thirtythird congress, still nominally a Demo crat. But new issues were up and in 1854 he made his canvass avowedly as a Know Nothing and carried his district by an overwhelming majority. All readers know the facts connected with the struggle in electing a speaker ize the Thirty-fourth congress. It gave Mr. Banks a world wide fame. On the 133d ballot, after a contest lasting months, he was chosen by a plurality only, the house having agreed that the rale requiring a majority should be set aside. The vote stood: Banks, 193; Aiken, of South Carolina, 100; scattering, 11. He filled the office with dignity and ability, and was re-Don't be without a bottle. You will not regret it. Try it to-day.

To do so in fact would amount to writing at least half a history of the war, as he served in the Army of the Polomac and as an independent commander in the Valley of the Sheuandoah and in the southwest. He was re-elected continuously, save in 1872, when he joined the Greeley party, till and including 1876, after which he served a year as United States marshal for Massachusetts, and in 1888 was elected to congress for the la-t time. When General Banks was a candidate in 188% the painful confession was made by some of his friends that he "needed the salary." It was not a pleasant thing for Americans to read, and old friends and old opponents in kongress joined in voting him a military pension of $100 per month.

A PRESIDENT'S PERIL.

French Anarchists More Defiant Than Ever Before.

PLOTTING MURDER AND GUTRAGE.

Dozens of Anonymous Threats Dally Reach the Authorities from the Miscreants. Who Are Said to Contemplate an Uprising in October.

LONDON, Sept. 3. - Threats of assassingtion crowd the daily mail of President Casimir-Perier, of France, and other prominent officials, and the government is almost in a panic over the danger. It is already made evident that the extraordinary measures for the suppression of anarchy have served thus far only to make its mad votaries more defiant and threatening than ever.

Not a day passes that a dozen or more anonymous hints of all manner of anarchist plots are not sent to the prefest of police and the home office. The police believe some of these threats are genuine. but they are sent in such numbers that even the augmented resources of the seeret service are utterly unable to deal with them. It is a shrewd move on the part of the wretches; who really are plot-ing murder and outrage. The plans adopted for the protection of the life of Casimir-Perier are more claborate than were ever employed under the empire: When the president left Paris Thursday for his country residence the train included two carriages containing thirty-five detectives. A corps of seventy of these officers is employed on the estate when the president is in his residence. They assume the character of laborers, gardeners, fishmongers and hawkers in the vicinity of the chateau. When the president goes to Paris they disappear. Any stranger who loiters within a block of the Elysee is quickly questioned by a detective. The necessity for this espionage is extremely galling to the president, but he is wise snough to recognize the genuins danger. Persons who assume to know what the French anarchists are doing say they will seek to establish a reign of terror in Paris in October.

Horse, Man and Cart Tumble In-The Horse Dug Out After Spending a Night

On Friday last some men who were digging a well on the premises of Rev. Mr. Fitzgerald at Mount Hope, during the temporay absence Mr. Fitzgerald, backed a horse and cart into the well, in which a man was

By what may be regarded as a miracle, the man was not struck by the horse and was able to make his way past the horse, mount the cart which was on top of the animal, and was then helped out. The cart was also got out, but the horse, a heavy Norman, had to remain over night. He had room to move about and was given some straw for a bed. The men at once went to work digging a trench through which the horse was led out next day. To all

The public schools of this city opened, this morning, for the fall term after the summer vacation of ten weeks, with a large attendance in all departments. The superintendent has not yet received reports of the numbers in attendance at the different schools, but it is known that the number of pupils is very considerably in excess of the capacity of the school buildings, and that it will be necessary to rent rooms outside for the accommodation of several hundred pupils.

The school buildings have all been cleaned and repaired during vacation and are in the best possible condi-

Correspondence Argus and Mercury.

-Last Tuesday forenoon as Edgar Taylor, a young man living near Slate Hill, was talking with Thos. J. Durland, close by his residence. Mr. Durland's St. Bernard dog, weighing 150 pounds, suddenly sprang at Tayfor without provocation and bit him in a severe manner on his right arm, between the wrist and elbow. The blood flowed freely from the wound. The dog held a tight grip, so that it was hard to make it release its hold. Mr. Taylor was cared for by Mr. Durland by using the best means at hand, and all expenses were paid by him in an honorable way. The dog has heretofore shown signs of viciousness to several others. The doom of death is pronounced against appearances the animal was unhurt.

YESTERDAY'S BALL CAME

A Large But Disappointed Crowd-The Flushings' Poor Playing.

A large crowd of people attended the ball game at the Hospital grounds, but the game was a disappointment. On their previous visit the Flushings put up a very strong game, but yesterday they were never dangerous. The Asylums pounded out eight runs in the first inning and thereafter they added runs whenever they wanted them.

Fuchs, who pitched for the Asylums last season, was in the box for the Flushings, but he proved to be a much easier mark than when he was here before.

The Asylums made four home runs, one of which was made by Capt. "Jack" Degnan, when the bases were full.
